

2016 September Celestial Timings

By Cayelin K Castell

Due to travel and an intensive teaching schedule this past month I did not get to do as much as I would have liked for the September Timings. However the Celestial Events are listed with a few insights worth checking out.

Me and My Mom in 1978

Once again, I am dedicating the September Celestial Timings to my Mom, Marilyn Judd Massey. She died 18 years ago on August 18, 1998 just before her 65th birthday. Since her death was on the 18th and it has been 18 years it feels timely to share what I shared in the Celestial Timings three years ago in honor of my Mom.

September 6, 2016, would have been her 83th birthday. You can read about her remarkable transition and the gifts of her conscious death process that not only inspired me but many others HERE.

Marilyn had a bachelor's degree in Journalism and a master's degree in Professional Writing (she earned from MIU, now known as MUM or Maharishi University of Management, in Fairfield, Iowa where we both attended at different times) but she never found the time to complete or publish her own writing due to the many life challenges she faced.

So in honor of her desire to be a published writer I am again sharing the beginnings of this book she hand wrote. I found this on a yellow legal pad after she passed. I typed them up way back then and they are being presented here exactly as she hand wrote them. I found it interesting to notice that she writes about many of the same things I do! I guess I am my mother's daughter after all...

The Serious Seeker's Handbook by Marilyn Massey

I've been a seeker all of my life. Earliest memories are of wondering about things I did not understand, dreams, memories, thoughts. "Where do these words in my head come from?" was a favorite question that bugged my parents no end. They didn't know - and did not want to know - what thoughts were or where they came from. At age 38.8 the answer finally started to come. It's still coming.

"Seek and ye shall find" is a favorite quote from the New Testament. Most of my life I thought, as most of us do, this meant that, if I had a great quest for truth and kept asking and persisting that some great revelation would one day be mine. I now know there is a lot more to it than that. Much more.

Marilyn during her college years

The first clue to the truth of the matter came when I was 10 during the second year of WWII. We (my parents and I) were living in Margarita, Canal Zone then. Dad was Chief of surgery and assistant superintendent of Margarita Hospital on the Atlantic side of the Panama Canal.

A US Navy chaplain was giving weekly classes on his biblical interpretation - starting with Genesis and God's creation of the world. Moving on from there he got to prayer, another subject I had lots of questions about.

"Whether you know it or not," the chaplain said, "You are praying every moment of the day. Every thought you put your energy into becomes a prayer to God. And God does not discriminate about your prayers. They are all the same to him. Whatever you're asking for with desire and great feelings, you will receive. If you ever wonder why things you don't want happen to you - happen anyway, look to what you have been thinking. Invariably you will see a relationship between the two."

This concept was so new to me, so foreign to all I had been taught up to that point, that my mind almost dismissed what the chaplain was saying, but something in his words rang true in a very deep part of me. So his words were duly filed in my memory bank.

Life is truly a perceptual experience. We would rather protect our investment (patterns) than change. It's what you keep in your awareness that's important. Keep reminding yourself of this principal and notice where you are in relationship to it. Watch where you are and don't judge, especially yourself.

Abundance is the natural state of affairs in the Universe. If you are not experiencing total abundance in all areas of your life - you are actively pushing it out, so when you relax and stop resisting it, you will experience more abundance than you ever believed could exist, and if you don't - go out and get it.

It looks like when you give something away you don't have it any more, but in truth you get even more.

Illusions I no longer have. What really is going on is something else – really!

- 1) Give truly what feels good
- 2) Sensitivity to what others would like to receive (honor)
- 3) No strings attached...if you give so you'll receive something in return, it's not a gift in universal terms. If you don't feel good about the giving it's a waste.
- 4) Giving equals you are giving to yourself...when you give a true gift it generates a higher level of joy in their life and the joyfulness and the perfection will be felt by the universe.
- 5) Give up struggle and doing as a function of obligation.
- 6) Learn to hang out and do without doing...let the Universe handle the details. You don't need to do anything to do something significant every day. It's not necessary. Do for joy or don't do at all.

High School Graduation in 1974

- 7) You are most valuable to yourself and others when you are joyful.
- 8) Make a basic decision in your life. Is it more important to be productive with a sense of obligation or more important to have fun and feel good?

Every experience is inherently joyful. It's all in how we choose to perceive it.

Thanks Mom!

I hope you got to see the Venus Jupiter Conjunction on August 27.

September Sky Highlights

Still prominent in the sky is the Summer Triangle (see image to the right) formed by Deneb (the tail of the Cygnus the Swan or Northern Cross) and Altair (the eye of the Eagle known as Aquila) and Vega (in the constellation of Lyra and the pole star 13,000 years ago). Cygnus the Swan is also referred to as the Northern Cross and looks very much like a cross in the sky. Aquila, the Eagle is flying toward Cygnus though slightly to the side so they do not look like they will bump into each other but pass by one another. Delphinus the Dolphin is just above and to the East of Altair looking south and further east of there is the Great Square of Pegasus.

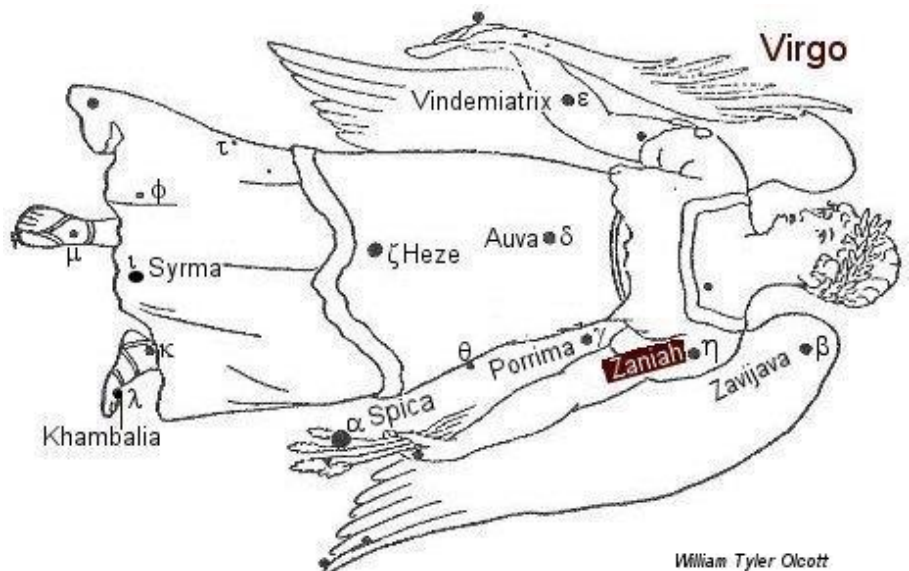

Venus is passing by the fixed star Zaniah (4 Libra 42) on September 02, 2016 located on the wing or shoulder of the Virgin Priestess. Zaniah is the star associated with the harlot. The original meaning of harlot as it was used in the 13th century described someone (usually a man) who didn't have a fixed occupation or was someone who was a juggler or jester of either sex. It was around the 17th century the current meaning for harlot came into use to describe a woman prostitute.

Harlot actually comes from the word hierodule (similar root as hierarchy) or priestess. According to Nancy Qualls Corbet in her book The Sacred Prostitute these women were temple priestesses trained in the art of sacred sexuality.

This was a sacred training highly honored and respected in the times before the current judgments came into play. For example, the Sumerian mythic telling of Gilgamesh references the “hierodule,” or harlot as a priestess, a holy one, revered and honored. This was part of the hierarchy or class system of those times and these women lived and served in temples dedicated to the goddess.

Venus passing Zaniah is connecting with this sacred priestess archetype in new ways. She is returning, though she is no longer supported in the Temple, rather, she is quietly re-emerging in the secular world and finding her way back to her sacred work and September finds the beautiful and amazing configuration of planets that was happening last month now separating in the evening sky.

Mercury is retrograde until September 21 when a new synodic cycle of Mercury gets going, that will last until December 28, 2016 when the next synodic cycle of Mercury begins. Mercury is stationing direct at 14° Virgo 49'.

On September 28 Mercury (18° Virgo 10') reaches maximum elongation or about 18 degrees from the Sun. Mercury remains in the morning sky until October 6 in one of Mercury's best morning sky appearances this year for those watching from northern latitudes. Mercury Brightens about three degrees in magnitude over about nine days. On September 19 Mercury is a +2.5 magnitude, very challenging to see with the naked eye. On September 28 Mercury has brightened to -0.4 magnitude rising about 90 minutes before's the Sun when it will be much easier to see.

Venus begins this month still within just a few degrees of the western horizon visible about 30 minutes after sunset. Venus sets about an hour after the Sun at the beginning of the month and about an hour and 15 minutes by the end of the month. Venus is brightening from magnitude -3.8 to -3.9 by mid-September.

Mars is invisible to the left of Saturn and Antares in the south southwest after sunset during September. The triangle between Mars Saturn and Antares gets bigger each week of this month. Mars fades from magnitude -0.3 to magnitude +0.1 outshining Saturn at magnitude +0.5 and Antares at +1.0 magnitude. Mars leaves the Constellation of the Scorpion on September 21.

Saturn is reaching quadrature(meaning it will be 90° to the East of the Sun) on September 1 and is square Mars on September 13. As September begins Mars and Saturn are setting a before midnight. By the end of September Mars is setting around 11 PM and Saturn is setting before 10 PM.

Jupiter begins the month about 5° to the lower right of Venus quite low after sunset. Venus speeds away from Jupiter as Jupiter sinks below the horizon around September 14. Jupiter will be conjunct the sun on September 26 and emerges into the morning sky in early October.

The Sun experience is an annual or solar eclipse visible from parts of Africa on September 1. the sun crosses the September equinox at 7:21 AM Pacific Time on September 22. This begins the outcome no equinox and the northern hemisphere at the Spring equinox in the southern hemisphere.

The Moon (24° Pisces 20') experiences a deep pen number of eclipse visible from much of the eastern hemisphere on September 16. Ultra thin lunar Crescent passes very close to Jupiter and in some locations will be seen as an occultation. This occultation is visible in eastern most Russia, the south western United States, Central America, the Caribbean, and the northern part of South America.

The waxing crescent Moon is well to the upper left of Venus on September 3 and above St. Spica on the fourth. The moon is about Saturn on September 8 and to the far upper left of Mars on September ninth. Awaiting Leonard Crescent is visible just below Mercury around dawn on September 29.

September 2016 Daily Aspects (all time are PDT unless otherwise noted)

September 01, Thursday. Virgo New Moon (09°Virgo 21') Annular Solar Eclipse at 02:03 am PDT in the first of two New Moons this month. The second New Moon this month is September 30.

This Annular Eclipse will produce a Ring of Fire as the Moon is further from the Earth so not quite big enough to produce a total Solar Eclipse.

This Virgo New Moon Eclipse emphasizes the ancient pattern of life contained within the natural cycles and rhythms that helps us to know what time it is for us. Natural Time, cyclical time, sacred time, is an active expression that unfolds beautifully within the web of life.

This is the work of Spider Woman connected to the collective pattern and master weaver of the web. This means this New Moon is definitely the “right time” to connect and align with your own supportive personal rhythms that will help you weave your creative web within the greater web of life - that is designed to attract all that you need to fulfill your sacred work in the world. Remember, when spider weaves her web in harmony with what is around her, everything she needs comes to her...

Our consciousness affects the creation of our personal web as shown in the chaotic of these patterns under a drug induced influence.

The Saturn (10° Sagittarius) and the Sun (10° Virgo $06'$) is square $06'$ exact at 08:21:51 pm.

September 02, Friday. Moon is conjunct the star Denebola (21° Virgo $51'$) in the tail of the Lion at 02:02 am. Retrograde Mercury is conjunct Jupiter (28° Virgo $34'$) at 10:18 am for the second time. The first conjunction was August 22 a few days before Mercury stationed retrograde. Moon passes Mercury (28° Virgo $30'$) at 3 pm and occults Jupiter (28° Virgo $37'$) at 3:12 pm and then enters Libra at 5:55 pm.

September 03, Saturday. Venus (05° Libra $23'$) passes through the 3rd gate representing the return of her 3rd Chakra vestment, as the divine feminine reclaims a healthy relationship to her personal power. This happens when the Moon makes the most exact conjunction to Venus at 4:30 am.

September 04, Sunday. The Moon catches up to Spica (24° Libra $04'$) exact at 05:42 pm. Spica is currently located around 24 degrees Libra, in the constellation of the Virgin Priestess (a.k.a Virgo) and both the star Spica and the constellation have myths and images of the divine feminine linked with them. The Greeks and Romans saw this constellation as the Great Mother Goddess Cybele with her lion-drawn chariot drawing on the symbolism of the Lion constellation that sits next to the constellation we are calling the Virgin Priestess.

Cybele, like many goddesses, had several incarnations or manifestations. Her celebrations included drumming, dancing, singing, and chanting, often all night long. The Greek Goddess Astrea is depicted in Tarot, as the blindfolded woman holding the Scales of Justice. Other images show Spica as the corn or wheat she holds in her hand. In Egyptian myth the constellations of the Virgin Priestess and the Scales were described as the Goddess Maat who used the scales to weigh the heart of the dead against her feather of truth to determine the future path of the one who died.

These Moon occultations and Venus passing this area of the sky alerts our awareness to the importance of finding the balance that honors both the divine feminine and the divine masculine. Both are essential to the experience of wholeness in this life.

The Sun and North Node (12°Virgo 43') are exactly conjunct at 01:18 pm MST

September 05, Monday. The Moon enters Scorpio at 05:38 am.

September 06, Tuesday. This would have been my Mom's 83rd birthday. See introduction.

The Moon is passing by the brightest stars of the Scales Zubenelgenubi (15°Scorpio19') at 12:37 pm and Zubenelshamli (19°Scorpio 36') at 09:18 pm. According to Starlight Elixirs <http://hilarion.com/stars.html> Zubenelgenubi assists people in finding inner harmony and independence while also deepening acceptance of oneself through recognition and willingness to release limiting patterns.

The other star, Zubenelshamali helps guide our understanding of how to use unconscious energy in this world. These two stars together help bring forth a deeper awareness of past life patterns. Visually connecting with bright Venus and Saturn (also approaching this area of the sky) is helps attune to these energies for personal and relational healing.

September 07, Wednesday. The Moon enters Sagittarius (10 Sagittarius) at 06:20 pm. As the Moon travels through the Sagittarius domain it is transmitting the mysteries linked with the quest for truth and meaning. Truth is in the present moment. When we are fully present in the moment, we experience Truth. Remember that fear and doubt are the opposite of truth.

September 08, Thursday. The Moon passes Antares exact at 02:25 pm, catching up to Saturn (10°Sagittarius 20') at 3:06 pm. If you have planets or angles around between 5 and 15 degrees of Sagittarius then Antares is a personal star for you. This Behenian Star marking the heart of the Scorpion has the ability to transform through the power of love when it is expressed through the heart.

As the Moon travels through the Sagittarius domain it is transmitting the mysteries linked with the quest for truth and meaning. Truth is in the present moment. When we are fully present in the moment, we experience Truth. Remember that fear and doubt are the opposite of truth.

September 09, Friday. The Sagittarius First Quarter Moon (17 Sagittarius) is exact at 4:49 am accelerating whatever is in process. This is a great time to be focused on personal healing further activating experiences of being empowered by healthy practices that renew every aspect of our being. It is also interesting to note that this area of the sky is a black hole known as Terzan Z, at the core of a globular cluster located just above the stinger in the constellation of the Scorpion, also emphasizing the themes of death and rebirth.

This First Quarter Moon then is illuminating a potent area of the sky where we can access the ancient healing wisdom that restores, revives, and renews. The light codes associated with these stars are also linked with revealing hidden mysteries for the purpose of experiencing greater expansion of truth and meaning.

Jupiter enters Libra at 04:18 am. The last time Jupiter entered Libra was September 24, 2004 and the next time will be August 23, 2028. Jupiter in Libra over this next year magnifies mysteries of how we relate to ourselves and others. This is a time intended to bring through new visions of conscious relating that include how we support one another in ways that support everyone to thrive, including the Earth.

For me personally, the last Jupiter transit through Libra brought through not only new visions and possibilities about how to relate but a new relationship that helped me to do just that!

The Moon and Mars (18°Sagittarius 55') meet exact at 08:11 am.

September 10, Saturday. Retrograde Mercury (23°Virgo 09') is opposite retrograde Chiron (23°Pisces 09') at 04:51 am energizing messages around personal and global healing.

The Moon enters Capricorn at 05:55 am crossing the Galactic Cross near Galactic Center where the December Solstice now rises letting us know we are at the turning of a Great Age because this alignment only happens for a time period about every 26,000 years.

Saturn (10°Sagittarius 25') is making its last exact square to retrograde Neptune (10°Pisces 25') at 06:04 am though will be in 10 degree orb until the end of this year. How can we create a healthy form for the visions and dreams that are essential to who we are?

September 11, Sunday. The Moon is conjunct retrograde Pluto (14°Capricorn 59') at 10:37 am. And Venus (14°Libra 59') is square retrograde Pluto (14°Capricorn 59') exact at 12:47 am. This is illuminating the dark depths - bringing the deeper shadows to light including how most of the rules and ways of living that we experience in our current culture are unsustainable.

What are we being asked to release so we can live a more empowered life? What is no longer sustainable? What activities will help us connect with powerful, transformative life force energy in ways that help us to co-create a more passionate, alive way of living our lives.

Retrograde Mercury is conjunct Denebola exact at (21°Virgo 51') 11:59:26 am.

September 12, Monday. The Moon enters Aquarius at 2:28 pm a time for unexpected, unusual events to occur that helps to awaken our awareness.

Sun conjunct retrograde Mercury (20°Virgo 37') in the Metamorphic Underworld exact at 04:40 pm.

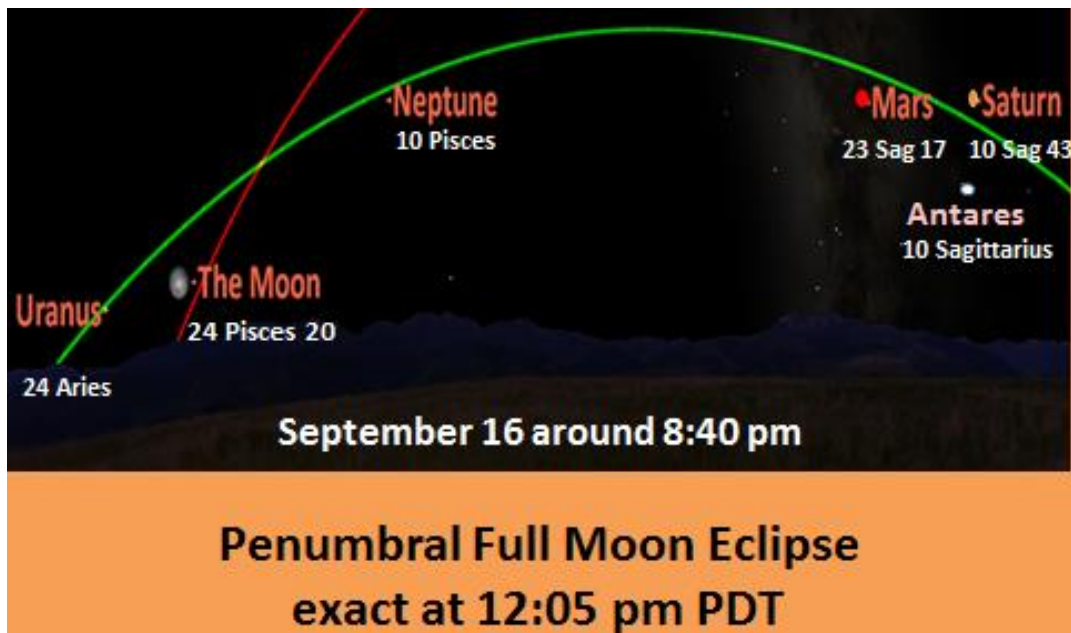

September 13, Tuesday. The Sun (21°Virgo 28') is Square Mars (21°Sagittarius 28') at 01:38 pm. This means Mars is technically visible overhead in the evening sky as the Sun sets though it to actually see Mars it may be about an hour after sunset before Mars is visible. Plus the Sun is making its annual conjunction to the fixed star Denebola (21°Virgo 51') marking the tail of the lion, exact at 10:45 pm.

September 14, Wednesday. The Moon enters Pisces at 7:23 pm and will pass Neptune tomorrow and Chiron the following Day. Moon with Neptune maximizes our dreaming energy The healing power of feeling what we feel is being amped up by the Moon with Chiron. Do you feel loved, cherished and valued? Or do you feel lonely, isolated, sorry for yourself and/or frustrated that your life experience is falling short of your expectations? If so, it is more than likely these feelings are being mirrored in the events of your life providing you with clues about where to go next in your own healing journey.

September 15, Thursday. The Moon is passing the Royal Star Fomalhaut (04°Pisces 06') exact at 02:2 am, watcher of the South and linked with Arch Angel Gabriel. The Moon is conjunct retrograde Neptune (10°Pisces 16') exact 12:45 pm and passes the South Node (12°Pisces 45') at 04:54:49 pm.

IT'S HARD TO BE RELIGIOUS WHEN CERTAIN PEOPLE ARE NEVER
INCINERATED BY BOLTS OF LIGHTNING.

September 16, Friday. Lunar Penumbral South Node Eclipse Full Moon meaning this eclipse barely shadows the outer edge of the Moon (24°Pisces 20') at 12:05 pm. This Full Moon Eclipse is illuminating the power of feeling feelings to facilitate deep healing. Our culture tends to teach us that we must always be happy, but that just isn't how life works.

We are meant to feel all our feelings and to allow them to have expression. The healing experience comes when we have compassion for what we are feeling and allow ourselves to feel it. When we have compassion, love ourselves unconditionally, and allow ourselves to feel the pain or grief we are feeling, we are creating space for the universe to reflect more love back to us.

Also today the Moon catches up to retrograde Chiron (22°Pisces 54') at 09:40 am, the Sun (22°Virgo 56') is opposite Chiron (22°Pisces 56') exact at 01:27 am. Plus Mars (22°Sagittarius 53') is square retrograde Chiron (22°Pisces 53') at 08:55 pm. Then the Moon enters Aries at 9:22 pm.

Sun opposite Chiron marks the half-way point of the current Chiron retrograde. If you have planets angles or nodes between 20 and 25 degrees of Pisces, Virgo, Gemini or Sagittarius - you are in a Chiron cycle. This means you have a better than usual chance at deeply healing yourself so that any wounds or illnesses become your medicine, or the gift you have to offer to others.

In ancient Greece, the centaur Chiron was a master healer and teacher. There were healing temples dedicated to Chiron all over Greece that included the astronomical and astrological mysteries, and training in the healing arts. Chiron taught through direct experience encouraging patients and students alike to know the healing power of nature or the natural world around us.

Chiron was also a noted astrologer who understood and taught the mysteries of the Cosmos as it related to the bigger picture and our intricate relationship to the planets and stars. Notably Chiron demonstrated the healing power of kindness and being helpful to others. (See Chiron Audios)

September 17, Saturday. Venus has entered into One Degree of an exact conjunction to Spica. This is the sacred star of the High Priestess transmitting the light codes of the divine feminine in her purest form. Venus of course is the planet that represents the Divine Feminine as she journeys through the sky. Once each year, Venus joins in council with Spica, attuning to the Divine Feminine light codes that are returning to our awareness and our experience.

September 18, Sunday. Venus catches up to Spica (24°Libra 04) visible in the evening sky though exact at 11:11 am. The Moon is conjunct retrograde Uranus (23°Aries 32') and Venus is opposite Uranus today. This is a day for unexpected changes that promote evolution and growth by shifting limited points of view to more expanded possibilities. A great question to ask is what is possible for me now that supports my growth and evolution?

Then the Moon enters Taurus at 09:59 pm.

September 19, Monday. Saturn is still within less than a degree of Antares.

September 20, Tuesday. The Moon enters Gemini passing the Pleiades at 10:53 pm and important stargate portal as the Moon enters the Sacred Hoop transmitting the light codes from this part of the sky.

September 21, Wednesday. Mercury (14 Virgo 49) stations direct at 10:31 pm. The Moon occults Aldebaran (10°Gemini 01') at 3:33 pm for the 23rd time in this series of 49 occultations that last until September of 2018. These words from The Legend Of Altazar by The Hermit Of The Crystal Cave n.k.a Solara remind us of the importance of ceremonial intention at this time in this Equinox window with all these planetary and stary portals to work with.

My beloveds, back at the beginning of time, certain native and natural peoples were given the task of holding the world in balance. At various locations, scattered about the planet, vortices or pillars of light were anchored deeply within the Earth. These ancient peoples, such as the Hopi, Tibetans, Ainu, and Dogon, have served their sacred purpose well throughout the ages.

However, while initially each vortex was held and maintained by a unified tribal group working together and sharing their common responsibility, such is no longer the case. Numerous of these tribal groups have disappeared from the face of the planet, making the weight greater on those who have remained. Even the groups who have managed to survive are no longer united in common purpose, indeed, many of them are beset by internal and external pressures and strife. The pillars which hold this planet in balance have grown extremely precarious and crumbly indeed.

What must be done is new energy vortices “should” be established and activated. They need to manifest on this physical plane in order for this planet to survive. But I ask you, where are the dedicated ones ready to function as the anchors of the new vortices? Do you see that this is an important part of your Purpose in being alive during this momentous time?

September 22, Thursday. The Sun enters Libra marking the exact equinox at 7:21 am. The Equinoxes are the seasonal time of balance and harmony when the days and nights are equal in length. During the Equinoxes, the Earth’s auric or magnetic field is affected by the Sun’s alignment with the Earth’s equator.

Twice each year, at the Equinoxes, the Sun rises and sets exactly over the equator, tracking exactly due East and due West, no matter where you are on the Planet. Doorways or thresholds into the mysteries are more easily accessed during Equinoxes, especially when we consciously engage this Timing. Equinoxes are a powerful time for doing ceremonial activations at sacred sites or anywhere you happen to be.

The Zero Libra point marking the Autumnal Equinox is currently aligned with the North Galactic Pole lying 90 degrees north of the Galactic Plane in the constellation of Coma Berenices. It is only for one time period in 26,000 years (about 144 years) that the Sun rises in this area of the sky at the September Equinox.

Astronomers consider the North Galactic Pole to be one of the best for studying other galaxies, because the conditions here are favorable for seeing beyond our galaxy. When the Solar Gates (in this case Equinoxes) align with the galactic poles an intergalactic doorway is opened. This Timing allows for easier access to the intergalactic energy codes coming in through the doorway of the Sun. We can maximize this Timing by choosing to anchor the incoming light codes of love that are intended to assist us and the Earth in the ascension process. See Celebrating the Equinoxes for more details including the story about Berenice's Hair.

September 23, Friday. The Moon enters Cancer, passing over the Galactic Cross near the Galactic Edge at 1:33 am and reaching its Last Quarter Phase at 2:56 am very close to the Galactic Cross at 00 Cancer 48. This Cancer Last Quarter Moon is within the September Equinox window and both the Equinox and the Half Moon or Last Quarter Moon represent the balance of light and dark. This is a great time to notice if we are giving ourselves permission to embrace feeling what we feel while loving ourselves and others.

When the Moon is traveling through Cancer it is about taking time to connect into love of self and love of family and love for those around us. Cancer is a water sign - so being in the flow of nurturing love, allowing love to nurture us and to nurture others with our love, increases the flow of love reflecting in our lives.

Venus enters Scorpio at 07:55 am. This emphasizes the gift of alchemy and regeneration as noted by the Goddesses Kali, Hecate, Pele, and Cerridwen. Another great imagery is the tribal Shaman Sorceress conjuring images of the most potent forms of shakti that are intended to continue to bring a renewal or rebirth of divine feminine authority and power.

September 24, Saturday. The Moon passes Castor, Pollux and Procyon today as it exits the Sacred Hoop of Stars.

September 25, Sunday. The Moon enters Leo at at 6:38 am.

In the book Abundance: The Future is Better than you Think by Peter Diamandis and Steven Kolter the authors' site research that suggests it is our negative biases that cause those who might otherwise stand up and claim the world is getting better to think twice about doing so. Why? Because humans have a tendency to give more weight to negative information. However, awareness of this tendency helps us to change it.

From the Leo perspective and from the Abundance perspective it is time to expand our point of view to truly believe and act as if every human being matters. NOT only that, we all matter like never before. In the Abundance model described in the book the well-being of every individual MUST matter. The place to start is to get that YOU matter and act as if you do matter, not in a selfish way, but in a healthy way that also recognizes that everyone else matters too. This is the essence of healthy Leo.

The Sun and Jupiter (03°Libra 37') meet at 12 pm.

September 26, Monday. Pluto (14 Capricorn 55) stations direct at 7:59 am creating a pause to integrate the deepening of the past few months, creating easier access to multi-dimensional realms of transformational possibilities. Whenever a planet stations (either direct or retrograde) there can be a sense of chaos and confusion in our external world as the focus of energy shifts directions.

Pluto in Capricorn brings what has been hidden in the shadows of our collective agreements to greater conscious awareness. This includes the politics and economics that have secretly driven our current cultural experience. The power and greed that drives this process is becoming increasingly unsustainable.

The current economic and political system ignores the inter-connectedness of all life and serves the interests of an elite few. Collectively we have agreed to the current reality so it is time for us to wake up and change that by facing whatever we have repressed or denied.

September 27, Tuesday. Mars enters Capricorn at 1:07 am. Moon enters Virgo at 2:43 pm passing by Regulus (00 Virgo 04) exact at 2:49 pm. Regulus is a star of Kings named by Copernicus (1473-1543) who used the word Regulus, as a diminutive of Rex derived from the second-century Greek astronomer Ptolemy and the equivalent Greek word Basiliskos (translated as "Little King").

Regulus is a Behenian star close to the ecliptic and is magnified whenever one or more of the visible planets including the Sun and Moon are within six degrees. Each Behenian star is connected with a ritual gemstone (granite and the plant mugwort for Regulus). These stones and plants were used to draw upon the star's influence for creating talismans.

September 28, Wednesday. Mercury greatest Elongation in the morning sky.

September 29, Thursday. Moon Occults Mercury (18°Virgo 53') at 3:05 am and passes Denebola (21°Virgo 51') at 8:52 am.

September 30, Friday. The Moon enters Libra at 12:52 am on its way to the Second New Moon this month is 08° Libra exact at 5:11 pm catching up to Jupiter (04°Libra 34') at 9:54 am.
