

2016 December Celestial Timings

By Cayelin K Castell

Peace on Earth Good Will Toward All Life

December is a time to focus on Peace and Well Being for everyone on Planet Earth. The challenge we face now is the reality we have somehow created. All I can imagine is this is about waking up - becoming more aware because otherwise it doesn't make any sense?

Be sure to check out the December Sky and December Overview because for the first time in 16 years I have not written daily Timings. When I first started writing the Celestial Timings in 1996 I picked the most interesting days and wrote about them. In October of 2000 I started writing Daily Timings. In 2003 to 2004 others helped me write either all or part of the Timings as I was going through a dramatic major life shift at that time.

Now I am stepping back from writing Daily Timings as I go through another major life shift (though not so dramatic this time) as I am considering what is next for me. I will share more when I know more. Here is an article about the Solstices on the Galactic Crosses and why they are so important at this time.

If you take Good Care of Yourself, Everything Else Will Be Okay!

Dr Hew Lin On Ho'oponopono

What is our opportunity now at a time when everything seems more chaotic and confusing than ever? Are you aware of what your stories have been and are you ready to let those old stories go? Are you willing to trust what is unfolding within and around you. Are you ready to take full responsibility for your every moment experience?

This article by Charles Eisenstein's speaks into how "normal is becoming unhinged" and how we are exiting an old collective story that has explained our place in the way of the world. We have entered a place in between stories or the old story and the emerging new story stories calling into question most everything we have believed to be true.

This is the place of NOT KNOWING or as Eisenstein states "unknowing" so a new "authentic" inspired life story can now emerge based in kindness toward one another with the realization that not only are we all in this together, but what happens to one of us is happening to all of us because we are all fingers on the same hand. This is about taking responsibility for every aspect of our experience, while also learning how to be even more compassionate toward those who have a different point of view and a different experience.

Ho'oponopono

With so much hate being demonstrated in the outer reality it is helpful to remember that hate is a way to distract ourselves from the pain and grief we really feel.

The Ho'oponopono Forgiveness Practice is an ancient Hawaiian tradition defined in the Hawaiian Dictionary as "mental cleansing: through prayer, discussion, confession, and forgiveness."

Pono is defined as: ...goodness, uprightness, morality, moral qualities, correct or proper procedure, excellence, well-being, prosperity, welfare, benefit, true condition or nature, duty; moral, fitting, proper, righteous, right, upright, just, virtuous, fair, beneficial, successful, in perfect order, accurate, correct, eased, relieved...

Ponopono is "to put right; to put in order or shape, correct, revise, adjust, amend, regulate, arrange, rectify, tidy up, make orderly or neat".

Practicing Ho'oponopono erases the memories that keep us stuck in the old story - it is about cleaning the slate so a new story or timeline that works for all of us can emerge. The basics of the practice are quite simple. Whenever you find yourself encountering external factors that are contrary to love, kindness, compassion, and integrity you repeat the 4 phrases on the image to the right.

Saying I Love You activates the divine within you asking the Divine within you to erase the memories that are causing pain. This is based in the realization that you are 100% responsible for your reality and it must be cleaned up within you before it can truly shift in your outer reality. This practice seems to align with the process of Jumping Timelines.

Jumping Timelines

I love the concept of Jumping Timelines. It reminds us we are not stuck in this reality. Rather when we take full responsibility for what we are experiencing we have the power to change it. Tom Kenyon writes in his Jumping Timelines article through the Hathors that we have the right to alter our Timeline, including jumping to a Timeline that supports the fulfillment of our potential and why we are here. The Hathors have indicated we are in a time of increasing chaotic events, and when that happens there is a convergence of multiple Timelines creating multiple Time Nodes.

These Time Nodes can create the effect of one Timeline being psychically perceived by those from a neighboring timeline. The stronger these Timelines are the more likely they are affecting possibilities and/or probabilities from other timelines within a Time Node creating the possibility for creative and novel effects within our own awareness.

With the increase of chaotic events happening on planet Earth there are more Time Nodes now available. The Hathors remind us Planet Earth and her people are at a point of accelerated evolution and this is greatly supported if we know how to work with what is happening. In essence, the Earth is on the edge of a complete transformation and we are responsible for the outcome. This is similar to the notion that we have the potential to enter a new Story.

What is needed now is a powerful shift in human consciousness. As many suspect there are those in power behind the scenes that are working to keep people in fear because when people are afraid they are easier to control. This is our opportunity, acknowledging that yes things look dire in many ways. Yes there is a lot to fear and yet if we choose to operate from kindness, compassion and love there is much we can transform within ourselves and the greater collective.

To Jump Timelines the Hathors suggest these five steps:

- 1) Identify the timeline you wish to move into.
- 2) Shift your vibrational state to match the timeline.
- 3) Lock in this vibrational state so it does not waver.
- 4) Take action that is an expression of the new timeline.
- 5) Persevere by holding the vibrational state of the new Timeline you have chosen. It is important to continue making choices that are coherent with the desired Timeline even when it appears contrary to your outer reality.

The Hathors go on to say: You are creator gods and goddesses, and this information we are sharing is simply your birthright. We offer it to you at this time with the anticipation and hope that many of you will jump timelines and tilt the keel of the ship you are upon and take the vessel into safe and prosperous waters.

This is about the Ascension Process

To ascend we need an accumulation of life force. The Ancient Egyptians called it Sekhem. It is about ascending up the sacred pathway of the chakras. This along with expansion of consciousness and awareness is ascension in its simplest form.

The process is accelerated when we can metabolize spiritual light in ways that feed our life force and increase our vibration. When this vibrational life force reaches a certain consistent frequency it activates the Immortal Energy Body or Sahu.

For those who have been following the Celestial Timings over the years, or for those who are participating in the Leo Venus Evening Star Ascent Journey you will recognize these words from the Sekhmet Mantra, Sa Sekhem Sahu. Chanting this mantra is a great way to increase your own life force and raise your personal vibration.

For ascension to happen it is important to be willing to feel, embrace and then courageously transcend any Fear that is coming up especially around survival as we are the creators of our destiny through what we think, say, feel and do.

Jumping to the Timeline of your Choice

While following the five steps above, remember to feel gratitude as this will further energizing the vibrational field of your new timeline helping you to accumulate the required energy to make the jump to a new Timeline. It helps to stay connected to the vision of your New Timeline while also dealing with your current reality. It also helps to treat others according to the vision of your new timeline.

The Hathors use the example of loving kindness. For those who desire to create a life of more loving kindness the advice is to extend loving kindness to others as that will accelerate the creation of this type of timeline for you. Not everyone will be capable of receiving loving kindness from you. That's okay as that will strengthen your ability to offer loving kindness no matter what and that helps you remain in a loving kindness vibrational state.

The Collective Timeline

It turns out we are not personally locked in to the Collective Timeline. At any point along the Collective Timeline there are those who are living greater challenges than others. Although it may not feel like it, the Hathors remind us that at the deepest levels of consciousness we are always choosing our reality. They also acknowledge there is a control program designed to manipulate the greater collective through fear that imprisons us and our ability to experience more expanded states of consciousness.

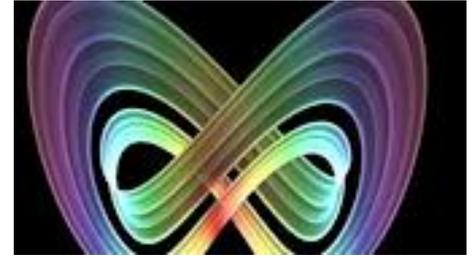

This is why it is important to practice following your inner guidance or inner knowing especially as it relates to the best actions to take in a challenging situation, without knowing how you know. If you follow that knowing it usually works out better than you could have imagined.

Be aware of mind control from outside forces, especially through fear. Anything that limits your "sovereign will" and ability to feel is designed to control you. When fear arises be with it, move it through your body, and when you are ready - let it go. Practice Ho'oponopono by repeating the phrases, I Love You, I am Sorry, Please Forgive Me, Thank You.

Altering Probabilities

It is possible to shift from the Timeline that has to do with doom and destruction to a Timeline where the New Kinder, Gentler Earth exists in co-creation with the Earth herself. The Hathors tell us: This timeline, called the New Earth, is a very different dimension of experience than your current reality. In this timeline, Earth is deeply honored and held in gratitude by the bulk of humanity, with an understanding and appreciation of the truth that all life is interconnected.

Here, Earth is not ravaged and exploited for the sake of profit—at the detriment of her very ecosystem. Technologies have been transformed through the elevation of human consciousness. Gone are the life-threatening technologies and life damaging mindsets of your current era. Wars are a thing of the past. The Controllers who exerted negative forces upon your destiny through their manipulation of religion, economics and international affairs have relinquished their power. Life itself is held as sacred, and a new understanding of the sacredness of matter is embraced by humanity. There is no war between Heaven and Earth in this New World...

...In this new timeline, the veils between the worlds are thin, and there is greater interaction between humans and intergalactic beings - such as ourselves - and with what you might call the devic and spirit worlds.

In ancient Egypt there was a goddess called Maat, who held a set of scales, and upon death the heart of an Initiate was placed upon the scales, and a feather would be placed on the other side. If the heart was as light as a feather the Initiate gained entrance to the heavenly worlds—meaning higher states of consciousness. But if the heart was laden with negativity, regret, and sorrow, the Initiate would have to return to the lower worlds.

In a very real way humanity is at its meeting point with Maat. Every person who believes in the timeline of doom, destruction and horror will add to its reality. Everyone who holds as real the timeline of the New Earth will add to its reality.

You are not powerless in this situation. You hold in your very nature the power of radical change for yourself and the planet—especially for humanity. If you feel a resonance with this timeline of the New Earth, and if you choose to live in this new order of being, you will be adding your weight, so to speak, and helping to tip the scales.

We wish to say something we said earlier, for it is of vital importance. It is possible to live in heaven while those around you live in torment. This has little to do with your location in time and space, but more to do with your vibrational state.

If you feel the truth of what we are saying and choose to align with this New Earth, we welcome you to a new timeline and a new destiny.

December Sky

Venus sets around three hours after the sun stretching to 3 3/4 hours late as December ends. Venus brightens from a -4.2 magnitude to a -4.4. Venus is appearing noticeably higher in the southwest after sunset. To the lower right of Venus, Mercury appears for the first three weeks of December. The separation between very bright Venus and Mars decreases dramatically by the end of December. Venus is about 100 times brighter than Mars this month.

Mercury remains low in the south west for the first two weeks of December at -0.5 magnitude. Mercury is reaching maximum elongation of 21° on December 10 and stations retrograde on December 19 at 15° Capricorn 08'. Also Mercury moved Out of Bound on November 18 at 8 Sagittarius 59 very close to Antares and remains Out of Bounds until December 17 at 14 Capricorn 48 near the fixed star Nunki marking the Vane of the Arrow of the Archer.

Mars remains in view visible in the SSW at dusk, lessening in brightness from a +0.6 magnitude to a +0.9. However it still outshines the faint stars it's passing in the constellation of the Goatfish and the Waterbearer. Mars exits the Goatfish about the time Venus enters it around December 9, 10 and 11.

Jupiter is in the sign of Libra traveling through the constellation of the Virgin Priestess and rises around 2:30 am as December begins and around 1 am as December ends. Jupiter is also increasing in magnitude from a -1.8 magnitude to a -1.9 magnitude and is visible moving closer and closer to the fixed star Spica. Jupiter passes this star about every 12 years or so.

Saturn is with the Sun on December 10 so is not visible for most of December. However, by Christmas morning Saturn rises an hour before the Sun shining at +0.5 magnitude. You can see it to the lower left of Antares, the heart star of the Scorpion shining around +1.0 magnitude.

The Sun reaches the December Solstice at 2:44 am Pacific Time on December 21.

The Moon begins the month is a slender Crescent about 10° above Mercury. On December 4 the growing Crescent Moon hangs about 6° to the lower right of Mars. On 5 December the Moon is about 7° to upper left of Mars.

On December 12 and 13 the night before the exact Full Moon the Moon is occulting Aldebaran for the 26th time in this series of 49 that lasts until September 2018. This occultation Aldebaran is visible in North America in the middle of the night on December 12 and 13. It will take up to an hour possibly more for Aldebaran to reappear after it has disappeared behind the Moon. See image next page for Times etc...

On December 18 the waning Gibbous Moon is 4° to the lower right of Regulus. Then the waning crescent Moon stands a few degrees to the upper right of Jupiter on December 22 with a fourth magnitude* in the virgin priestess shining between the Moon and Jupiter. On the morning of December 23 the moon informs a triangle with Jupiter and Spica.

On the morning of December 27 the Moon is 4° above Saturn below in the south east as the dawn brightens. On December 28 the waning Crescent Moon is faintly visible to the lower left of Saturn.

The peak of the Gemini's meteor shower happens on the evening of December 13, although only the brightest meteors will be visible due to the Full Moon.

The 26th Occultation of the Moon Over Aldebaran since January of 2015 in this series of 49 that lasts until September of 2018

This occultation is visible in North America in the middle of the night on December 12 and 13. It will take up to an hour maybe more for Aldebaran to reappear after disappearing behind the Moon.

New York disappears 11:13 pm reappears 12:27 am
 DC disappears 11:07pm reappears 12:21 am
 Atlanta disappears 10:53 pm reappears 12 midnight.
 Chicago disappears 9:48 pm reappears 11:04 pm
 Austin disappears 9:24 pm reappears 10:29 pm
 Denver disappears 8:22 pm reappears 9:33 pm
 Phoenix disappears 8:05 pm reappears 9:14 pm
 Los Angeles disappears 7:01 pm reappears 8:06 pm
 San Francisco disappears 7:06 pm reappears 8:05 pm
 Seattle disappears 7:29 pm reappears 8:10 PM.

This occultation can also be seen from parts of western Europe before dawn on December 13.

Venus Alchemy
Cayelin Castell and Tami Brunk bring you the Mysteries of Venus

The Venus Alchemy Signature Series explores the Divine Feminine Venus in her many nuances and expressions and what that means to you personally, with never before offered content. This series is now recorded and being offered at a special rate for a limited Time. Rave Review I love, love, love this new Venus class! I keep finding more and more synergies in my life. Thank you for bringing this material forth in such an amazing way. RW

Plus you can still join us for the Leo Evening Star Series. This month is the featuring the Throat Chakra Gate. Rave Review Thank you for this wonderful class. You always give more and take us deeper! Mary

December Overview

This month begins with the 5th Venus Moon conjunction since Venus rose as evening star exact on December 3 marking the passage of Venus through the Throat Chakra gate where she is reclaiming her ability to speak compassionate truth, empowering the feminine to speak what is necessary and needed at this time of great chaotic change in our world.

We also have the further activation of the Uranus Pluto Square via Jupiter that began last month. This expansive energy speaks to the unpredictable events and disintegration of the old forms, old rules, and old ways of perceiving reality. Uranus and Pluto are within about 3 degrees of each other all month and Jupiter of course will reach opposition to Uranus near the end of the month

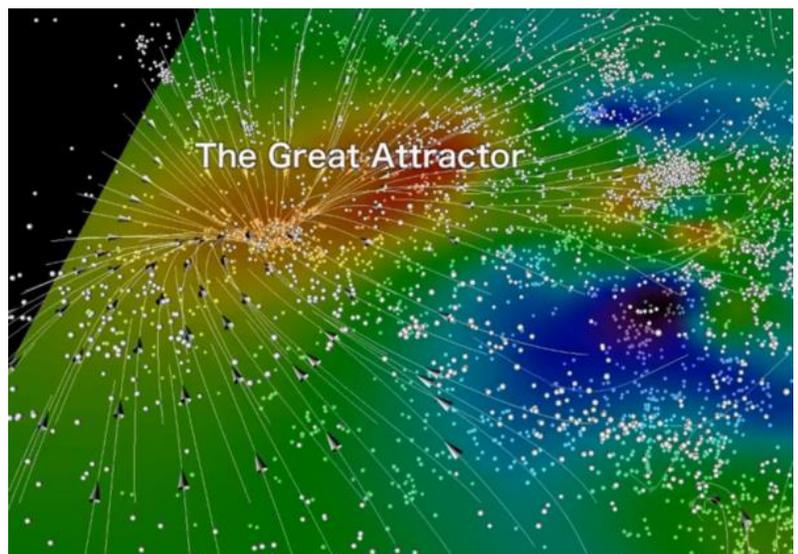

Plus Uranus stations direct on December 29th so is in a still point for most of December meaning anything unexpected is possible designed to shift our assemblage point or point of view. Uranus is the change agent and the changes may look scary or illogical but if we can trust the process it is all unfolding according to the divine plan.

On December 5 the Sun makes its annual connection with the The Great Attractor described by astronomers as the most massively huge object known in our region of space and they don't know exactly what it is so that remains a mystery. This invisible "thing" is attracting millions of galaxies, including the Milky Way Galaxy toward it at the rate of 24 million miles per day or a million miles per hour. This is a rate of speed beyond our minds ability to comprehend.

If you have planets or angles between 10 to 18 degrees of Sagittarius, your life is greatly influenced by this celestial phenomenon, especially this time of year when the Sun is passing this area of the sky. Astrologers speculate if you have 14 degrees Sagittarius (or more accurately 10 to 18 degrees of Sagittarius) prominent on your natal chart, you are one who is intended to have a huge impact on the masses and often these are folks who have a greater impact than they realize.

Philip Sedgwick suggests that those who have a connection to the Great Attractor hold the key to universal knowing whether they know it or not, as the Great Attractor is a doorway into unseen dimensions. This is due to the massive gravitational force that seemingly bends the space-time continuum to give us a peek at the back of the Universe. See Philip Sedgwick's article on his website under Galactic Anomalies <http://www.philipsedgwick.com>.

From the astronomical point of view, the Milky Way and Andromeda galaxies are the dominant structures in a galaxy cluster called the Local Group. This Local Group is an outlying member of the Virgo supercluster. The Andromeda Galaxy is about 2.2 million light years from our own Milky Way Galaxy and is speeding toward our galaxy at 200,000 miles per hour. This motion can only be accounted for by gravitational attraction, even though the mass of our Galaxy that scientists can currently observe is not nearly great enough to exert that kind of pull. The only thing that could explain the rapid movement of Andromeda is the gravitational pull of a super large unseen mass or Great Attractor. Astronomers speculate that this Mass maybe be the equivalent of ten Milky Way size galaxies lying somewhere between where our galaxy is and the Andromeda Galaxy.

The energy and understanding around the Great Attractor calls to mind what it is that we are attracting into our lives based on our thoughts, feelings and actions we are engaging and how we are helping to co-create the New Earth and even more importantly our lives? This is the time to be consciously intending our true heart's desire and then be willing to focus our thoughts, images, feelings and actions on our intended reality, as all of these factors influence how we are vibrating and what we attracting into our lives as a result.

Plus Mercury is stationing retrograde within just over a degree from an exact conjunction to Pluto and about 5 degrees from an exact opposition to Uranus. AND as we begin December Mercury is Out of Bounds acting as an additional wild card factor until December 17 just two days before going retrograde on December 19.

The Gemini Full Moon is passing by the Bright Star Capella (one of the magical Behenian Stars) marking the outer rim Sacred Hoop. Capella is associated with gem stone Sapphire and according was thought by the ancients to confer honor, wealth, eminence, renown, and a public position rooted in trust. Something perhaps to invoke during this Full Moon for all those occupying public positions as from appearance it does not seem there is much to trust in most of them these days.

Capella has connections to the cornucopia depicted by the Goat's horn that the infant Jove (a.k.a Zues to the Greeks) broke when playing with a goat. The horn was transferred to the heavens as Cornucopiae, the Horn of Plenty.

The Full Moon is hanging out with this star suggesting we can use ceremonial magic and intent to activate possibilities of peace and plenty for all.

Working with the energy of Sapphire (either literally or in ones imagings) the opportunity to is to activate the wisdom, spiritual insight, prophecy, royalty, love, and commitment of this stone also associated with the planet Saturn. It is also known for its ability to protect, calm and focus the mind, relieve insomnia and bring good fortune. Blue Sapphire also connects to the throat chakra the Evening Star Venus Gate featured this month assisting us in expressing our thoughts in ways that can be heard and understood.

This invocation may be useful to use at the time of the Geminin Full Moon either in personal or collective ceremony.

*Be at Peace Within. Trust you are exactly where you are meant to BE. Remember the infinite possibilities born inside of you. Use your gifts in ways that pass on the love and wisdom that has been given to you. Be content and accepting of yourself just the way you are. Allow this knowledge to settle into your bones with the freedom to sing, dance, praise and love. This is possible for each and every one of us. Revised from an invocation attributed to Teresa of Avila and Teresa of Liseaux

December 29, Thursday. Uranus (20°Aries 33') stations direct at 1:29 am.

December 30, Friday. Moon enters Aquarius at 5:29 am.

December 31, Saturday. Mars is conjunct Neptune (09°Pisces 44') 10:53 pm.

The polarity of 'good and evil' does not exist in Buddhism.
There is only the 'good' of the enlightened state, and the distortion of that 'good'.
This means that no matter how negative a situation or person may have become through dualistic obsession — that situation or person can be transformed.
