I am inspired to share this look at time as we once again encounter the 8.8 Infinity Time Gate <https://cayelincastell.com/8-8-infinity-time-gate/> (some call it the Lion's Gate) three times this month on 8.8, 8.17 and 8.26 and celebrate 77 years since the Philadelphia Experiment.
 For me Time is a mystery worth exploring...

A Look at the differences between Kairos and Chronos Time

Kairos is an ancient Greek word meaning the right or opportune moment. The ancient Greeks had two words for time, chronos and kairos. Chronos refers to chronological or sequential time, and kairos signifies a time in between, a moment of undetermined duration in which something special happens. While chronos is quantitative, kairos has a qualitative nature.

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Kairos>

Chronos in Greek mythology, was depicted in Greco-Roman mosaics as a man turning the Zodiac Wheel, sometimes referred to as Aeon or Eternal Time. In pre-Socratic philosophical works Chronos is said to be the personification of Time. His name actually means "time," and is alternatively spelled Khronos (transliteration of the Greek) or Chronus (Latin version). <https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Chronos>

Sacred Time...

Embracing the sacred nature of Time can shift our understanding and experience of time as a moment to moment experience. Time has many multiple layers and dimensions, some are more familiar than others. There are Time out of Time experiences that do not fit into what we consider ordinary reality where Time can stand still, elongating in mysterious ways or time moves more quickly than usual.

Most of us are familiar with ordinary Time measured by a clock. There is the Time of day or night, the week, the month the year. The time when we work, play, socialize, learn, eat, rest etc. There is also where we are on the timeline of our life whether young or old or somewhere in-between. This kind of Time also measures beginning, middle and end of events.

Time seemingly moves in a linear fashion. We experience our lives from the perspective of past, present and future orientations of Time. Some say the only Time is NOW, however, we do have memories of the past and visions of the future. The Greeks referred to this more linear experience of Time as Chronos the root word for chronology or a sequential arrangement of events sometime referred to as a Timeline or a chronicle. This is connected to what we call clock time and that has become our primary experience of time as our culture has have moved away from a more sacred relationship to Time.

Kairos was another word the Greeks used to describe an experience of Time. Kairos time is sacred time or time that is fluid, flowing, in the moment, in the creative process. It refers to an experience that takes us outside of clock time, where we are fully absorbed in the moment and no longer aware of the passing of time. It is eternal and outside the experience of past and future. In kairos time there are no questions, it is a perfect sacred eternal moment beyond the limits of ordinary reality. There are moments when we spontaneously slip into Kairos time often we are not expecting it, or we can connect with sacred time through ceremony, meditation, dance, chanting, journeying, or any creative pursuit that expands or suspends our experience of the passing of chronos time.

It seems that we are now, more than ever in recent memory, experiencing a greater merging between Chronos and Kairos time. Chronos has greatly speeded up. It seems to be moving faster and faster as the days go by.

This means many are finding it essential to find ways to somehow suspend the experience of speeded up Chronos Time and invite a more grounded experience of kairos or sacred time where all the timelines are converging and transforming into a new dimensional reality beyond anything previously experienced here on Earth. Much of this is reflected by the multitude of rare and powerful planetary alignments that remind us we are NOT in an ordinary Time.

The Mysteries of Time and the Philosopher's Stone

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Philosopher%27s_stone

This realization is connected to alchemy and the Philosopher's Stone. This is described as a substance thought to facilitate transmutation of base elements into Gold or an elixir for enlightenment and eternal life. In his book The Forge and The Crucible, The Origins and Structures of Alchemy Mircea Eliade speaks to the transformative power found outside of ordinary time.

He says the Philosopher's Stone realized this miracle (alchemy) as it eliminated the interval of time separating the present condition of an imperfect (crude) metal from its final perfected condition when it becomes gold. The stone achieved transmutation almost immediately - it superceded time.

William Henry speaks about this in his DVD The Anointing of the Dove saying:

When we remove the interval of time between our thoughts and actions and stay centered in love that is the Philosopher's Stone.

Staying centered in Love is the key to successfully riding the waves of these rapidly changing Times because love operates in kairos time or sacred time or a place outside of Time as we know it.

Time and Prophecies

Prophecy exists in Time as well. Some say dire prophecies warning of calamitous events are successful prophecies if they do NOT occur because people changed the course of Time through their thoughts and actions.

The same is true for wondrous prophecies, however, these are successful when they are fulfilled because we have focused our thoughts and actions on manifesting them.

We are living in a Time when there are many prophecies telling us of a New Earth, the end of Time as we know it and the birth of a Golden Age is imminent. (See end of the August Timings for Flo Magdalena's prophecy from her book I Remember Union The Story of Mary Madalena)

Uranus in Taurus Stations Retrograde August 15

On August 15, 2020 Uranus Stations retrograde at 10 Taurus 42. Uranus first entered Taurus on May 15, 2018 beginning an inquiry into how we can co-create and then experience the greatest amount of sustainable sacred pleasure in our connection with Mother Earth. Without HER (meaning planet Earth) our life does not exist as we know it. It is time to disrupt the old ways that do not honor the Earth. It is time to cultivate rites of Sacred Pleasure that support ALL life.

Lammas Blessings, Lughnasah and La Negrita

<https://cayelincastell.com/lammas-lughnasah-august-cross-quarter/>

Each year on August 2 is the La Negrita Feast Day. Cartago, Costa Rica celebrates the Leo cross-quarter on August 2 by honoring and celebrating La Negrita. (pictured right) The story of this La Negrita centers around a small Black Virgin statue found near Cartago Costa Rica by a young girl in 1635. The statue demonstrated magical powers by always mysteriously returning to the spot where it was first found even after being put in a locked box. It was decided a church should be built on that spot and that church is where La Negrita resides to this day. On August 2, Pilgrims from all over Central America journey to honor her.

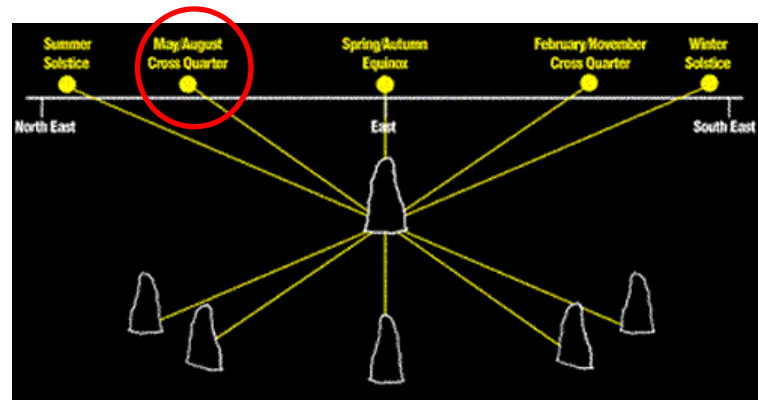

August Sky

The Perseids meteor shower is visible from July 25 to August 18 with the peak days are August 10-13.

The Perseids come from the constellation Perseus rising between 9 and 10 pm in northern latitudes. These meteors come from the dust and debris left by the comet Swift-Tuttle. When visible meteors can be seen streaking across the sky reaching up to an impressive 80 meteors an hour at maximum.

This is a fun meteor shower if you have clear skies because of the warm summer nights. Moonlight may dim this year's shower a bit but because these meteors are abundant many will overcome the light of the waning Moon. Speculation is you may see as many as 40 to 50 meteors per hour at the shower's peak.

Read more: Peak Perseid mornings: August 11, 12, 13

Check out early Morning with Venus and the Perseids Meteor Shower August 12 and 13

Two major celestial events happen almost concurrently in the predawn sky on August 12 or 13, 2020 (the exact date depends on your time zone). The planet Venus reaches greatest elongation in the morning sky, AND the Perseid meteor shower has its peak number of meteors. Venus at around mid northern latitudes is rising around 2:45 AM daylight time. If you live in a place where it's not daylight time that would be 3:45 AM.

We are in the time of year where the Sun is rising later and later each day so the difference between Venus rise and sunrise is increasing by about 20 minutes this month.

Venus is reaching greatest elongation from the Sun on August 12 when it is about 46° ahead of the sun in the morning sky. However Venus does not reach its highest sunrise altitude in mid-northern latitudes of about 40° above the horizon until the end of August.

Venus is decreasing in brightness from a -4.5 to -4.3 magnitude and yet if you have clear skies Venus is a brilliant spotlight in the east in the early morning sky and is only out shone by the Sun and Moon. The annual Perseid meteor shower is at its maximum peak around the same date every year. Venus be near greatest morning elongation so close to the Perseids for another 8 years.

What is the Venus Elongation and how does it connect to the Golden Triangle?

Due to the Venus around the Sun occurring inside the orbit of the Earth and the Sun from the Earth's perspective Venus can never be more than 48 degrees from the Sun.

That means you will never see the Sun rising and Venus setting or the Sun setting and Venus rising as that represents a 180 degree separation between two planetary objects.

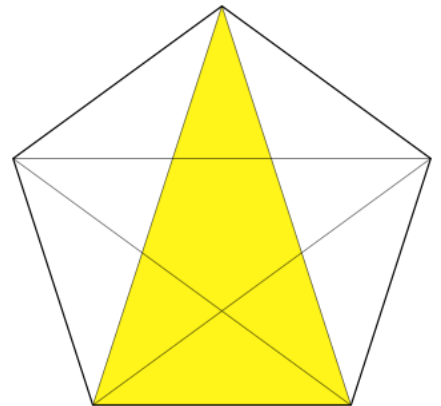

On August 12/13, 2020 (depending on your time zone) Venus reaches its maximum elongation in the current Venus Morning Star appearance of 45.8 degrees from the Sun meaning morning star Venus is as far from the Sun as possible in the current Venus Cycle.

The Golden Triangle and how it relates to the Venus Cycle

Some say the Golden Triangle is the "Rosetta Stone" of understanding Venus Cycles. The Golden Triangle is an isosceles triangle with two of its angles equal to 72 degrees and the third angle equal to 36 degrees. These two numbers, 72 and 36 are deeply interwoven into the Venus Cycle in both the Morning and Evening Sky appearances.

As shown in the image below it takes 36 days for Venus to reach her maximum brightness after she conjuncts the Sun while retrograde and appears in the morning sky. From Maximum Brightness to Maximum Elongation from the Sun while Venus is still in the morning sky is another 36 days creating a total of 72 days from the Venus Sun conjunction to Maximum Elongation.

The opposite is true of Venus in the Evening Sky. This is because Venus reverses her Morning Star Brightness and Elongation and reaches Maximum Elongation from the Sun 36 days after being conjunct the Sun when NOT retrograde and getting ready to move into the evening sky. From Maximum elongation Venus then reaches greatest brightness 36 days later for a total of 72 days in the reverse order.

About 72 days after reaching its greatest eastern elongation in the evening sky, Venus passes in between the sun and Earth at inferior conjunction. Then 72 days after reaching inferior conjunction, Venus swings out to its greatest western elongation in the morning sky. Yes, remember the Golden Triangle and the number 72! Venus's distance from the Sun equals 0.72 the Earth's distance from the Sun. Uncanny how that number 72 keeps cropping up!

Don't forget the number 36!

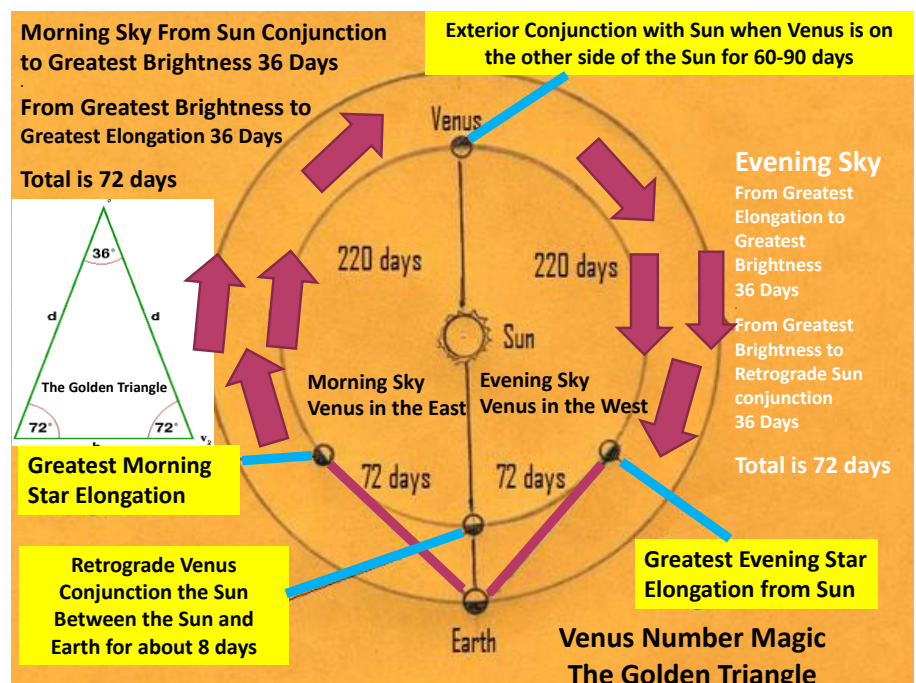

This may come as a shock to you, but Venus shines at greatest brilliancy in the evening and morning sky when its disk is approximately one-quarter (25 percent) illuminated by sunshine. Midway between a greatest elongation and an inferior conjunction, Venus showcases its greatest illuminated extent, at which juncture the illuminated portion of Venus covers the greatest square area of sky. Venus reaches its greatest illuminated extent some 36 days before and after inferior conjunction. It also reaches its greatest illuminated extent some 36 days after its greatest evening elongation, and 36 days before its greatest morning elongation.

Venus and the Pentagonagram

Venus is oftentimes represented by the Pentagram, which is composed of 5 Golden Triangles and a regular pentagon. The Pentagon well symbolizes Venus because all the Venus' milestones (greatest evening elongation, greatest illuminated extent in the evening sky, inferior conjunction, greatest illuminated extent in the morning sky, greatest morning elongation & superior conjunction) recur 5 times in 8 Earth-years or 13 Venus-years. Some of you may recognize the 5:8:13 Fibonacci sequence, a tribute to the beauty of Venus and the Golden Ratio!

A greatest western (morning) elongation of Venus takes place around 144 days after Venus reaches greatest eastern (evening) elongation. That happened on March 24 just before Venus passed directly through the Pleiades (a rare event that won't happen again for 8 years) on April 3 and then rose as Morning star on June 10.

Stay tuned for more about the number magic of Venus including the 5.8.13 sequence. $5 \times 8 = 40$ days of the Venus Retrograde and the importance of the age 40 Venus return.

Journeying with the Gemini Rainbow Goddess and The New World Story Teller

No Previous Knowledge of Astrology Is Necessary to Be a Part of This Ceremonial Journey

This initiatory journey is about co-creating a New and Ancient Story of Togetherness through freedom of being our true selves. The Gemini Goddess is the way shower, muse and guide helping us navigate our shared adventure with beginner's mind, curiosity, a sense of play and adventure, imagination, adaptability, access to our inner genius, magic and unlimited creative powers. She guides us to remember to laugh at ourselves and not be soooo serious asking how to do we create more fun, freedom and fulfillment.

On August 5 Venus and North Node meet at 28 degrees Gemini and then Venus moves into Cancer on August 7 having spent just over 4 months in Gemini. When Venus reaches Zero Cancer (the June Solstice point) she is on the Galactic Cross where the June Solstice Sun now rises at the Galactic Edge at the center of the Sacred Hoop of stars. Venus in Cancer is in an evolving expression of the feminine mysteries that are about creating healthy family and community through sustainable ways of living cooperatively that will benefit the generations yet to come. Venus moving into Cancer is an event that occurs once each year and supports dreaming the dream onward for the divine feminine currently exploring new ways to express her innate nurturing love and compassion for all life.

And SHE...is the sky dancer...

Venus and the North Node in Gemini during the Gemini Venus cycle has been 56 years since they came together in this way and it won't happen again like this for 100's of years. Find out more in this 17 minute youtube <https://youtu.be/h6dbngQokc8>

August 12, 2020 marks the 77th anniversary of The Philadelphia Experiment. Many of you may remember the 1966 to 1967 Television Series The Time Tunnel. This TV series was most inspired by the secret experiments that the US government and other countries were doing on time travel including the illusive Philadelphia Experiment. There is a wealth of information about this including books, magazine articles, movies, documentaries and an episode on this subject in the series Unsolved Mysteries. This project seems to be also linked to the Montauk Projects that were exploring Time Travel.

If you are willing to take the time to investigate this information it will further reorient your perspective about Time and how Time is being manipulated... If you Google words like Montauk Project you may find yourself discovering all kinds of interesting information. HERE is just one example...reminding us to question everything that we think is true? Is it really true? The Mandela Effect (there is a movie about this as well) suggests the reality we believe in today may not be the reality we believe in tomorrow or believed in yesterday.

So how do we truly connect with the truth underneath the illusions of this reality?

The Mandela Effect origins etc <https://www.verywellmind.com/what-is-the-mandela-effect-4589394>

August 1 the nearly Full Moon is passing Pluto, Jupiter and Saturn. (Pluto is not visible) And then catches up to Mars. The Aquarius Full Moon is August 3 at 12 Aquarius.

THE TRUTH ABOUT THE PHILADELPHIA EXPERIMENT

AN EXTENSIVE INVESTIGATIVE REPORT BY THE UFO GUY

Bill Knell blows the lid off one of the best kept secrets of all time. A US Navy project to demagnetize ships goes awry and leads to US Government experiments with Invisibility, Time Travel and Mind Control (and more) that likely continue in various forms today.

August 15 features so many pivotal events including the 6th chakra gate of the Venus Cycle where she is releasing her The Gemini Goddess or Feminine Expression can be captured in the imagery of the Heyokah Coyote Woman. Coyote is the trickster, whose antics remind us that this reality is not as real as it appears and it helps to be willing to see the humor and laugh at ourselves so we can connect to the magic that is always there.

The Heyokah is in direct contact with spirit and is Spirit's divinely appointed messenger who brings us the messages that are designed to shift and expand our point of view.

The Heyokah "mirrors" what we most need to see in ourselves. This includes the places where we have doubt, fear, hatred, weakness, anger etc. as well as where we are brilliant, accomplished and perhaps even doing better than we realize.

The Heyokah accomplishes this by taking our pain and turning it into laughter even when we don't feel like laughing about it. As Norman Cousins discovered (author of Anatomy of an Illness describing how he used humor to cure an incurable life threatening illness) and Reader's Digest has proclaimed for years Laughter is the Best Medicine.

The Heyokah Coyote uses humor to heal and as a vehicle to go beyond duality and polarity - or the idea that this is good and this is bad. From the perspective of the Heyokah Coyote, also paradoxically referred to as the "wise fool," absolutely everything has a purpose when we are willing to look at it that way.

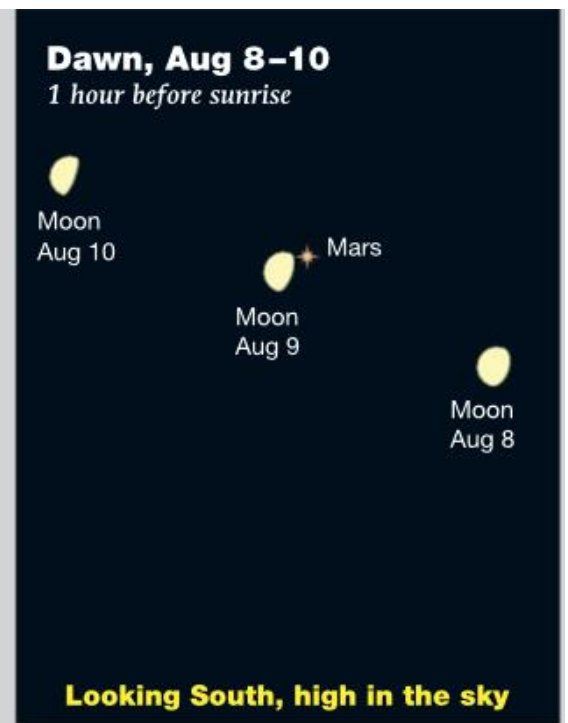

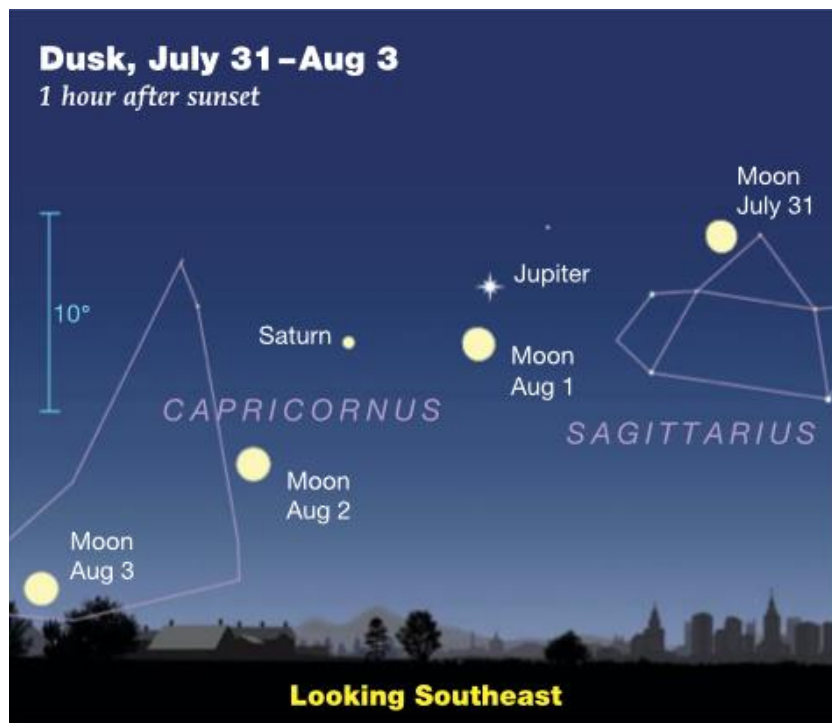

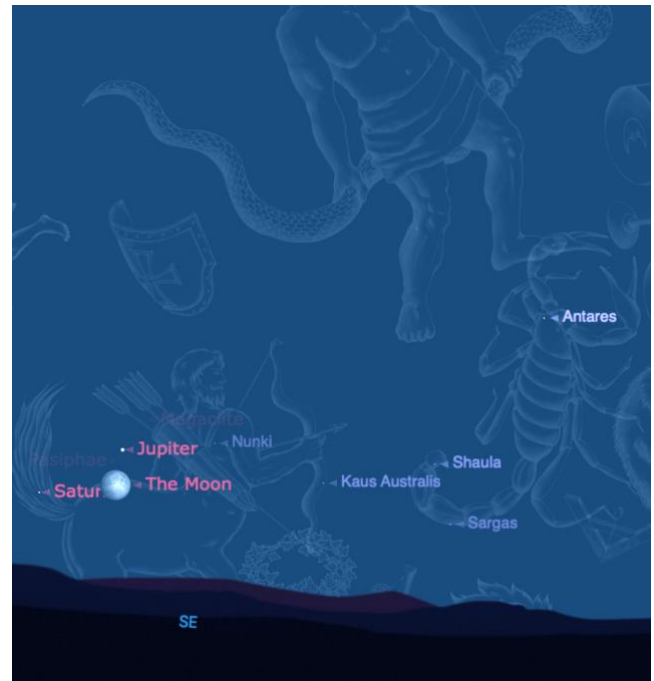

At this gate Venus releases any distortions connected to her inner vision and cosmic perception. Ceremonial work around this theme is especially important for those who are in their eight year Venus return - turning a multiple of 8 (16, 24, 32, 40, 48, 56, 64, 72, 80, 88, 94, 102 etc) between June 10, 2020 and January 14, 2022. <https://venusalchemy.com/gemini-morning-star-journey-details/>

This is a time for creating living ceremony, prayer, intention and visualization around 6th chakra issues by using your imagination to find ways to release any distortions you may have in regard to your inner vision and connection to the cosmic overview. The 6th Chakra is connected to our ability to see multi-dimensionally from a greater cosmic perspective on many levels including the physical and intuitive.

The Archer (a.k.a Sagittarius) and the Scorpion are two prominent constellations worth checking out during the summer months in the Northern Hemisphere. The Archer is shaped like a bow and arrow though many current day star maps show it as a Tea Pot. The archer is aiming its bow directly at Galactic Center and also points to Antares, the heart of the Scorpion. Centaurus (a.k.a. the Shaman Centaur) is the constellation located below the Scorpion and is only visible in latitudes further south. If you are around 32 degrees north the top half of the Centaur is visible. If you are in Hawaii the entire Centaur is visible in the evening sky this time of year.

The Scorpion is one of the largest constellations in the sky and with its curved tail clearly looks like a Scorpion in mid-northern latitudes. In Hawaii however this constellation rises up looking like a fish hook and so the native Hawaiians call this constellation Maui's Fish Hook. Story <http://library.thinkquest.org/5191/maui.htm>

August 7 is the astrological Cross-Quarter between the June Solstice and the September Equinox, and in many places also marks the heliacal rise of Sirius. This means our brightest fixed star in the sky is visibly rising just before the Sun. <https://cayelincastell.com/sirius-star-magic/>

Every year Sirius disappears from the evening sky in May, conjuncts the Sun around the 5th or 6th of July (part of the Timing for the Declaration of Independence that has now shifted slightly) and rises into the morning sky sometime in early August depending on your location. It is during the months of late July, August and September the influence of Sirius is considered to be most impactful. To many ancient cultures the reason this was such an important time had to do with the seasonal time when Sirius was leaving the sky, traveling with the Sun, and then reappearing before the Sun in the morning sky currently happening around the time of the Cross-Quarter on August 8.

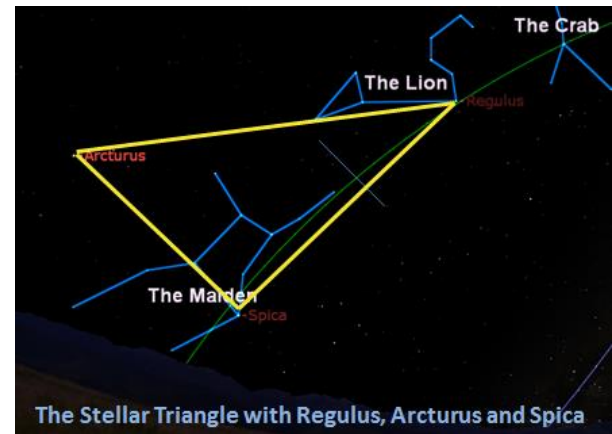

There are sacred sites around the world built to capture the rising or setting of certain stars. The Washington, D.C. capitol is one (primarily aligned with Sirius), as is Rennes-le-Chateau, in France, and many other sites around the world. The location of Rennes-le-Chateau corresponds to the 72-degree position of the Sun rise from true North that takes place on August 15 as described by John K. Young, Ph.D. in his book, Sacred Sites of the Knights Templar, Ancient Secrets Hidden in Stonehenge, Rennes-le-Chateau and Santiago De Compostela. Because Rennes-le-Chateau is at the perfect latitude to capture the sunrise line pointing to the Stellar Triangle,* and to align with at least five other sites at 72 degree angles, as part of perfectly formed, five-pointed star with each point exactly 72 degrees apart from each other; this site was purposely chosen as a sacred connection between Earth and Sky and on August 15 the Sun is illuminating the point of the star located at Rennes-le-Chateau. <https://cayelincastell.com/sirius-star-magic/>

A note about The Stellar Triangle: John Young points out that Regulus forms a perfect 30-60-90 degree right triangle with two other prominent stars in the sky. These stars are Spica (in the constellation of the Virgin Priestess) and Arcturus (in the constellation of Bootes).

Young suggests that the Feast Day of the Assumption of the Virgin Mary was most likely chosen because of the stellar connection of Regulus with Spica and Arcturus, and its connection to the Sun rise location of 72 degrees North at certain northern latitudes occurring around August 15.

Maia Kyi'Ra Nartoomid describes the genetic memory that seeded the conflicts eons ago we are currently seeing playing out so dramatically now. The following description fits very well with what is possible when we are consciously attuning ourselves to the Light Vibration of the Sun in Leo helping to clear the “genetic lines” and “LIFT the vibratory frequency in the DNA”.

The only way for the neurons in the brains of the succeeding generations to be cleared of this programming (instilled memory) is for souls of greater LIGHT VIBRATION than what is held within the DNA of the current generation carrying this genetic memory to incarnate into these genetic lines and thereby LIFT the vibratory frequency in the DNA to a level that will clear the old programmed circuitry, creating new neuron channels in the brain.

Such Light strains called the CHILDREN OF THE DIVINE RAYS are now, and will continue, to be drawn into embodiment into these warring generations. Soon, they will virtually pour into these genetic strains and will then be able to genetically consume and transmute the energies...This will not come easily. It will not come without more conflict and suffering. But it WILL be reconciled before the New Earth Star claims its own.

The constellation Lyra (visible from April to October) is thought to be the Harp or Lyre of Orpheus who was the musician that entertained the Argonauts in their search for the Golden Fleece. Hermes is also credited with inventing the Lyre and then giving it to Orpheus. This is a dim constellation though the 5th brightest star in the sky, Vega is located here. Vega was the pole star 13,000 years ago and will be the pole star again in 13,000 years. Vega is also one of the three bright stars marking the summer triangle. <https://cayelincastell.com/the-former-pole-star-vega/>

The Leo New Moon is August 18 at 27 Leo near Regulus

<https://cayelincastell.com/planets-with-regulus-heart-star-of-the-lioness/>

Mercury appears low in the morning sky as August begins and catches up to the sun on August 17.

Mercury enters Virgo on August 19. <https://cayelincastell.com/mercury-in-virgo/>

Mars is rising three hours after the sunsets as August begins in about two hours after the sunsets by the end of the month. Mars is increasing in magnitude from -1.1 all the way to a -1.8 reaching perihelion or closest to the sun on August 3.

Mars is just about two months away from its closest opposition to the sun happening in October

Jupiter and Saturn are visible after the sunsets beginning the month about 8° apart and continuing to grow further apart as Jupiter is moving faster than Saturn back across the stars they both have just passed in recent months.

Jupiter is dimming from -2.7 to a -2.6 and Saturn is decreasing in brightness from a +0.1 to a +0.3. This is due to the fact that both Jupiter and Saturn were opposite the sun last month.

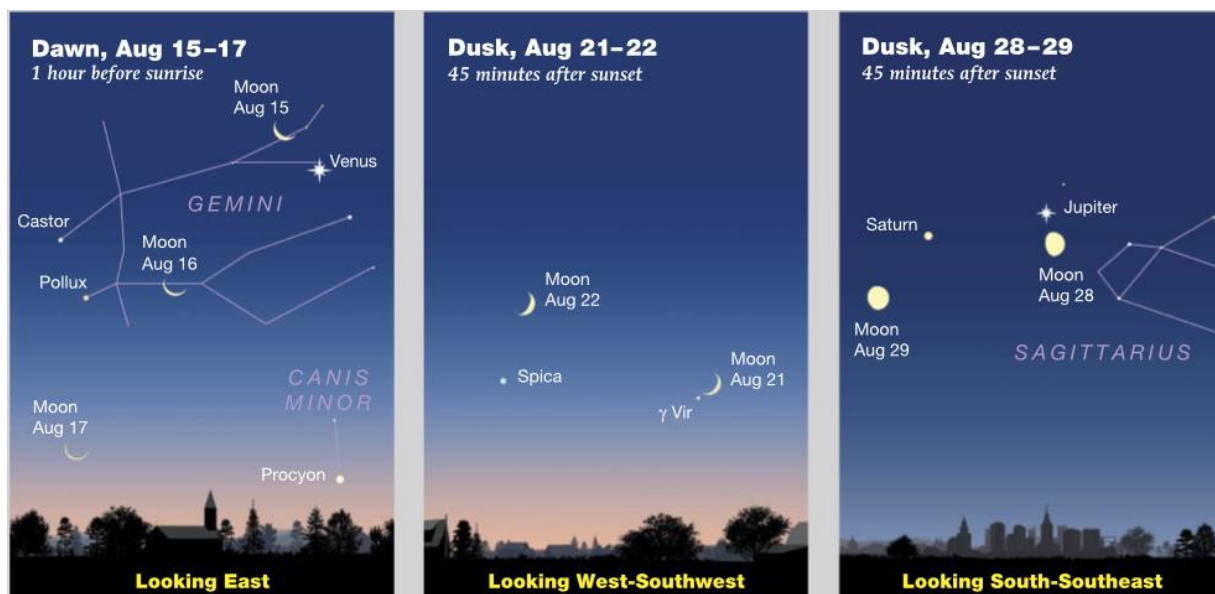

As August begins the Full Moon is shining less than 3° below Jupiter and on the following night will be to the left of Saturn. The most dramatic conjunction of the moon this month is on August 9 when the waning moon passes a little more than 1° to the south of Bright Mars.

On August 15 the very slender waning crescent is about 3 1/2° above blazing Venus rising into the morning sky close together.

The next morning the waning moon is about 6 1/2° to the right of pollux near the head of the twins.

The waxing Crescent Moon is near the star Porrima on August 21. The next night the Moon has moved closer to Spica and by August 28 will be below Jupiter for the second time in August. And the following night to the lower left of Saturn also for the second time this month.

The Sun enters Virgo on August 22 <https://cayelincastell.com/virgo-planets/>

From I Remember Union by Flo Magdalena - As it is Written so Shall It Be!

"And it is Written: There will be among all people the peace of a million years of dreaming. And it will come to pass That there will be no separation. The people will rise together, young, and old, female and male, and there will be equality. And all nations shall be as stars shining from the same sky with the same intention: to light the way for humankind. The days shall number years and millenniums, and it will come to pass that these moments are all the same simultaneously. All the knowledge and all the worlds of learning will be reborn into awareness, and all will be understood. The questions will be answered, the meanings known. And there will be no more aloneness. For the people will reach out from their souls and their hearts. And their vision will be of unity, truth, and order.	The ways of humankind will become the ways of the angels, and there will be the coming together of all ages in one moment. And the learning will at last be clear. The people shall rejoice and dance within, and all the kingdoms shall rise together, as if from the mist of the dreams of humanity, and forge a union with the divine. The way shall be lighted with the truth from the spheres. And man shall join woman in the final dance of alchemy. All despair shall be lifted into the rainbow of peace. There shall be no war, no famine, and no pestilence. their hearts and their souls, shall merge Within and Without. The microcosm shall become the Macrocosm. The moments shall merge to be experienced as time standing still.	For the lord and the goddess shall merge – and the night and the day. All of the forces shall come together to signal the end and the beginning. The belief of duality will be laid to rest, and all the dichotomy shall pass away. The people will remember and search no more. Their feet and their hands, Each moment shall embrace all desire and all need, fulfilling their great longings. There will be no loss or abandonment, for all will be made known. The Father and the Mother shall join hands across the sky, embracing all their children in the crystal light of being. And they will rest forever, the children, in the bosoms of truth and love, and all else will pass away. And so it is written." And so it IS.
